Subject: Re: Bitcoin
From: Satoshi Nakamoto <satoshin@gmx.com>
Date: 11/02/2009, 18:58
To: nbohm@ernest.net

Nicholas Bohm wrote:

> I've looked from time to time, and Bitcoin invariably gets exactly 50% > of CPU, even when System Idle Process is getting the other 50%. I > assumed this was set, and had it in mind to ask you whether the setting > could be changed so that Bitcoin could be given its head (e.g. overnight).

Do you have a dual core system, such as a Core 2 Duo? Bitcoin currently only launches one process to generate coins but it could easily launch one for each processor. It's probably about time I implemented that.

Satoshi